

UPDATE - BARRY IS HOME AND DOING WELL - THANK YOU! :)
(January 4th, 2012)

Yesterday was a good day for Barry. The hospital stopped giving him that bad medicine, and each of the times we talked with him yesterday morning and throughout the day, it was clear that he was the normal Barry that we all love. He's home, and getting back to normal. He is excited that he has so many letters that he needs to respond to. It might take him a week or two to get back with everybody, because it was just a week ago that he had open-heart surgery. It's good therapy for him to have so many good friends to talk with and write letters to, and it challenges him to get back to normal more quickly. Yesterday afternoon, we all welcomed him home and helped him get settled, and arranged things in his home to help him recover more quickly. Barry's YouTube page is still missing - Barry is asking questions and should be able to tell more about that soon.

Thank you to all of Barry's active partners! We personally believe you were a very important part in yesterday's success.
Barry's web and IT guy, Steven :)

Hello friends of Barry Chamish,

We see evidence leading us to believe that Barry is in serious danger caused by two medicines the hospital is giving Barry, and his YouTube web page has disappeared.

We visited Barry Sunday - December 25th, before the surgery and we talked about his options to avoid the surgery. We discussed that the scope would lead to the sales pitch for surgery. We had intelligent conversations with reasonable conclusions (if you believe in AMA doctors). But, with Barry, all of the conversations were good reasonable and rational discussions. He was the normal Barry.

We went back to see Barry yesterday Sunday - January 1st, and the first thing we noticed was the hospital has Barry on a bad medicine that is altering Barry's thinking. Our first assumption was the hospital had to give Barry some medicine to prevent him from getting over stressed. We didn't say anything about it last night.

I talked with Barry this morning, Monday January 2nd, about that medicine and he had come to the same conclusion about one of the medicines. Right away, he went to the nurses' station to say he wants them to stop giving him that medicine. After that conversation, Barry had another round of high blood pressure. Sometime today, Barry's Doctor friend from Hebron, Daisy Stern, had a strong conversation with the Flagler Hospital staff that they are making a mistake about that medicine. We don't know if or what they changed.

We talked with Barry this evening and we found several things. The hospital is still giving Barry the same medicine that makes him confused, but now they are delivering it through IV so, he doesn't know what they are giving him. Another thing that makes this all look like a set-up is the hospital had a psychologist to visit with Barry this morning. Maybe this is just a hospital incompetency, but we can think of many reasons and testimonials not to trust the AMA medical system. Barry was almost killed by the medical system in Israel, which is why he came to America. But if the only problem is hospital incompetency then why are all of his talk radio shows missing from YouTube?

We are not very familiar with the AMA medical system, but we know we are witnessing a dangerous problem, and it might even be premeditated with some large dark figures secretly in the background. Does anyone know how to get this problem resolved?

It seems that Barry needs help and though we are willing, we don't know how to help from here. So, we are writing you all to get feedback and help.

Thank you in advance for your help,
Steven Henry - Barry's web and IT guy
